🌲 Stargazing Night in "Hoshitori Prefecture"

Kagamiganaru Park in "Hoshitori" Prefecture, where the Milky Way is visible and shooting stars are easy to see even during the meteor shower season. If you look up at the night sky, you can almost reach the stars. You will be able to see a sky full of stars and the Kyukamura staff will guide you on the starry sky. This event is limited to guests staying overnight. "Hoshi" means "star" in English, so it is combined with "Tottori" as a play on words.

🔍 Tour of the Ruins of Shimodan-Nakayama Iron Mountain

Tatara iron manufacturing has been handed down for more than 1,000 years in the Oku-Hino and Oku-Izumo regions. At its peak, this area alone produced 70% of the nation's iron. In the San'in region, iron sand was collected mainly by flowing iron-containing sand into river in order to obtain high-quality iron sand, the raw material for iron. This tour will take visitors on a walking tour of Shimodan-Nakayama, the largest tatara iron manufacturing site in Nichinan-cho.

Japanese Giant Salamander Survey

The Japanese giant salamander is the world's largest amphibian and is designated a Special Natural Treasure by the Japanese government. In this program, participants will first learn about the ecology of the giant salamander, and then go out to the habitat to take part in an identification survey, which provides important data for conservation, and a survey of aquatic organisms that provide food for the salamanders.

*Since only a small number of authorized people, such as researchers, are allowed to touch the giant salamanders, trapping is done by an instructor (researcher).

Raw Coffee Bean Washing Experience

You can experience washing raw coffee beans in Oku-Daisen water. The reason for washing in water is that raw coffee beans are covered with dust and dirt, which gives it an unpleasant taste. Washing and then roasting the beans gives the coffee a much clearer taste. The small roastery is located in a science lab in an abandoned school at the foot of Oku-Daisen and is surrounded by a lush natural environment.

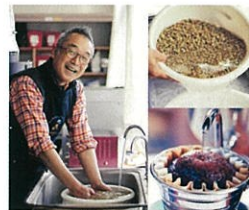

Special Benefits: (1) You can compare several kinds of coffee. (2) The owner will roast the raw coffee beans washed by the participants and send them to your home. (200g x 2 bags for ¥4,800)
